Recidivism Study

Recidivism: after the commission of a criminal act and the application of some intervention, does the subject engage in future criminal behavior

Recidivism Study

“You can’t manage what you don’t measure.”
(but no jurisdiction is measuring it)

Recidivism Study

- ◆ Successfully obtained Criminal History Data for all arrestees going back 5 years
- ◆ Random Sampling vs. Big Data Approach Significance
- ◆ Creates performance measurements for justice system programs
- ◆ May be able to determine impact of non-justice programs on recidivism

CHALLENGES

- ◆ Currently lack organizational research capacity
- ◆ Academic Partnerships
- ◆ Private Foundations
- ◆ National Institute of Corrections
- ◆ State solutions?

SYSTEMS INTERRELATIONS STUDY

- ❑ Systems Performance Subcommittee created a dashboard-type tool to measure change in the local justice system
- ❑ Utilizes key measurements from various stakeholders including courts, law enforcement, probation, etc.
- ❑ Responsibility for data collection will reside in the CJCC
- ❑ Plan to utilize NAU Criminology intern(s) to do the data collection and computation on a quarterly basis
