Bikeways plan

- Low stress bikeways network...
- Bikeways are linear transportation corridors intended for bicycle use
- Network is a continuous and connected system of bikeways throughout Flagstaff
- Low stress means that most people will feel comfortable on a bicycle, regardless of experience or ability

Separation principle

- Low-volume/speed streets: most bicyclists are comfortable riding in the street with no special facilities
- Moderate-volume/speed streets: bike lanes provide dedicated space for cyclists out of the vehicular travel lane
- High-volume/speed streets: bike lanes alone may not be sufficient for most cyclists to feel comfortable; separation should be considered

Types of cyclists

1%
LESS THAN 1%

STRONG AND FEARLESS

Riding is a strong part of my identity, and I am undeterred by traffic speed, volume, or other roadway conditions.

7%

ENTHUSED AND CONFIDENT

I am comfortable sharing the road with motor vehicles, but I prefer to use bike lanes and bike friendly streets.

60%

INTERESTED BUT CONCERNED

I like riding a bike, but I don't ride much. I would like to feel safer when I do ride, with less traffic and slower speeds.

33%

NO WAY NO HOW

I don't bike at all due to inability, fear for my safety, or simply a complete and utter lack of interest.

Bicyclist preference

Four-lane commercial street, speeds of 35 mph...

- 10% very comfortable riding in a bike lane
- 58% in a physically separated bike lane
- 83% on a separated path

Bikeways hierarchy

- Primary: four main commuter routes into central area from N-S-E-W
- Secondary: other main routes for crosstown bicycle travel; 17 routes total
- Third level: bicycle connectivity between neighborhoods and districts
- Fourth level: travel within neighborhoods, local access, connectivity to higher level routes
